Skills and Experience: I recently took a 3D modeling class at my school and really want to get more into it. I figured doing modeling for this project would get my hands on more projects faster and allow me to help one of my favorite game series. I have been using MODO 9 (and recently 10) to make models for fantasy games I would one day want to make and small board games such as monopoly. I don't have any professional experience but am willing to make small simple models for the project, hoping to allow the more experienced modelers to focus on more important models.
