Skills and Experience: Hi,

I'm an avid programmer and currently a student; who, is about to enroll in the University of Texas. I'll dedicate time to the project, being a huge Elder Scrolls fan myself, and would really like the opportunity to apply what I know and assist in anyway applicable.

My skills range from Python to Java, and am technically teaching myself C# (though wouldn't really count it as of yet). I have numerous amounts of projects completed in relation to various applications; and am involved with varying groups that collaborate on certain programs solving diverse tasks.

I am more than willing to learn Papyrus, and with the language skill sets listed above, I almost always code using object-oriented programming (OOP).

Thank you.

Best regards,
Saroekin
