Skills and Experience: Put simply, I have very limited experience in any of these areas. However, I'm an extremely fast learner, and do have some background in java (within eclipse) and C++ programming as well data structures. I'm a major fan of the elder scrolls series, and would love to help contribute to this project. I can learn anything you need me to, and then do it. I understand if that's of no help, but while watching many of the trailers and progress updates, I heard enough calls to action that I decided to apply anyway.

I'm going to go to the tutorial links you mentioned above, and hopefully, if you're willing, to any other place I'm directed to learn anything and everything I need to know to be helpful.

I'm currently a high-achieving student, so when I say I can learn, I guarantee you I mean it.

For any chance to help, I would be grateful, and I promise I'll make myself useful.

PS: Given my lack of experience, I don't have any sort of portfolio or website, so I'll just have my URL be google so I can progress in this form :)
