Skills and Experience: I spent 6 years building business systems with SAP software for Fortune 100 companies. I am good with project planning and have project experience from envisioning to design to construction to go live to maintenance. Your project is ambitious! I do not have any of the software skills you need, but would be willing to pay my way to travel to somebody's home town and even pay them a little money to teach me. Having been in software for years, I am good at picking up software skills. I have more database design/management skills than coding skills. As such, I would like to know where you have a need? Having worked on business systems for some of the biggest companies in the world, I am good with tedious stuff and organization. I will be returning home to the Baltimore area this year (from my current living in China). Is anybody on the project on the east coast, say from NYC south to Raleigh NC? I could also travel by plane anywhere in the USA for training opportunities.

Thanks for any ideas! I've been a D&D geek my whole life and spent decades playing Elder Scrolls games (I'm 41 years old). Might as well help you in this endeavor if you need any malleable blank slates. I also have an eye to downstream projects like Skyblivion! Can somebody call me to speak about general opportunities? My phone number in the USA is 410-258-2279. Thanks! I also have a degree of financial freedom so my level of commitment to this could be significant. Your definitions of 'level are commitment' are not clear to me. Also had trouble getting past your proof of skills section. The website listed is just a dummy.
