Skills and Experience: I'm still in high school, but I've been deeply involved in writing, especially creative writing, for some time now. I've been following your project for some time, and I really would like to help out. I'm familiar with TES lore, and while I have never played Morrowind (I don't have a system that can play it), I would be very interested in writing lines, quests, lore books, or anything else that needed to be written. I've been a very active member at my school's creative writing club for the past three years, and I'm currently a member of our OCRYSE team. So while I don't have any portfolio examples or professional gigs, I feel that I am versed enough in the writing world for me to be an effective and involved asset to the team.
