Interested in: Coding/Scripting/Mechanics

Level of Commitment: Somewhat active

Skills and Experience: First of all I'm quite new to all this stuff. I only started off C training so I have general understanding of conditionals, loops, variables and all that stuff.

My background seems quite irrelevant - psychology studies, working in IT company as tech coordinator. However it provides me with lots of skills which help me learn faster, communicate efficiently, manage changes and teamwork as well as have easier time understanding how all this "tech" stuff works.

So you can treat me as a rookie with very basics which is willing to learn and help however you need me.
