Level of Commitment: Highly active

Skills and Experience: Intermediate-level 3D modeller in Blender, to the extent of having created a few weapons from scratch and modded them into Skyrim. Therefore also have a decent understanding of the creation kit, and have messed about creating dungeons etc. as well. Have basic animation skills (have rigged very basic objects and animated) but willing to advance these skills if animators are in short supply. Also have learnt the basics of various languages (C++, java, python etc.) and implemented a couple of basic papyrus scripts in personal mod projects. Currently undertaking finals for this current university year but will be finished early

June and then able to contribute very actively.
