I haven't done nearly as much modding as most who apply and other volunteers but working with a project like this is what I would need to motivate me to learn and develop my modding skills. I'd love having a project I could work and colaberate on with others while learning in the process.

While I may not be as skilled, I know how to pull my weight in a community project and get just as much, if not more, than anyone else.

I'm sorry that I've no portfolio or work to show off.
